Terry served as Secretary for the California Environmental Protection Agency, and Cabinet Secretary/Chief Policy Advisor, under Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger and continues to advise the Governor on energy and environmental policy. As a result of Terry's on-the-ground efforts to promote the message of Lives per Gallon to public officials around the world, his recommendations for shifting from oil to more sustainable alternatives have been adopted by two Canadian provinces, six Australian states and the European Union, as well as 31 states in the U.S.

Island Press, a non-profit organization, is the leading publisher of solutions based information for those working to protect and restore the environment. We do this by stimulating new ideas and approaches, shaping these ideas into multidisciplinary tools for policy and practice, and communicating the key concepts to appropriate audiences, in-print, in-person, and on-line.
